FOREWORD

The memories of the year gone by will fade into the fog of the past. I hope that this Glahisean will help many of those memories to return. I also hope this book will not fade into the past after only a brief glance. To my associate editor and staff, I can only say "thank you," for without you this edition would not have been possible. We have done our best and now can only sit back and hope that our efforts have been successful.

To a Wonderful Person:

From the time when we were freshmen first entering high school until now, when we stand on the threshold of graduation, one person will always stand out in our minds. This wonderful person is you, Mr. Como. We can look back upon the years when you were our World Culture's teacher. How many times we were bored and tired with school, but you gave us the help and assurance that we needed to set us right. You've worked so hard during our four years at GHS and have gone far. Through your help, we have attained the goal we are striving for, also. Standing in the background when honors came, YOU would let us take the bows. It is time now for us to tell you that we are grateful.

In dedicating our yearbook we want to say, "Thank you, Mr. Como!"

This was the year we were all waiting for — our Senior Year! The publication of the yearbook was the one big project. We worked so hard during our junior year selling magazines, Easter candy, Christmas candy, on and on and on, that we didn't need to worry too much this year. We did sell cards and wrappings at Christmas time. Our annual dance was a highlight. Handing out pictures, name cards, filling in applications, being interviewed, taking college boards, visiting colleges, hospitals, offices — yes, our Senior year was a busy one and a very happy one.

Our Honor Students are those who have maintained at least a 90% average during their first three years of high school and who have these particular qualities: Richard (Chuck) Gentry, and the Honor Society. A check of the Honor Society's records will reveal that these twenty students are very active in our extra-curricular programs. Almost all of the group participate in the activities of the Student Union.

THE JUNIOR CLASS

This year's Junior Class showed a great deal of ingenuity and sparkle. Under the direction of Miss Rita Mae Kohut, their program was a full one. One of the brightest memories they will hold is that of Homecoming when they won the first prize in the float parade for their conception of a Chariot and Gladiator.

Juniors were busy during the pre-Christmas and pre-Easter seasons selling candy to help finance the Junior-Senior Prom. Since the senior class had decided on the design for a standard class ring, this year's class went a step further and decided the stone should be standard also. An onyx stone was the popular choice.

STUDENT

Under the capable leadership of the Student Council President, George Como, and with the assistance of the faculty sponsor, Mr. Eugene Urbansk, the Student Council accomplished many things during 1961-62. A book store was opened and operated by Student Council representatives. The annual Christmas gifts for the needy was very successful with the active participation by the Student Council members. The council endeavored to make the Hall Monitor system more efficient. All in all, we can look back on the past year with much pride.

Y-TEENS

Y-TEENS

The Y-Teens is affiliated with the YWCA. 1961-62 was a very busy year. The club followed its membership drive with the annual Sadie Hawkins Dance. This year's theme was "Heap Big Pow Wow". An innovation this year was the highly successful Powder Puff Football game with the G.A.A. A Mr. Football contest was held in order to earn funds for the Scholarship. Miss Helen Robinson is the Y-Teen Adviser.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC

The Girls' Athletic Association was very busy this year. The year began with initiation of new members in the form of a "Pledge Week." Next was the Powder Puff Football Game with the Y-Teens. In swift order followed weekly bowling, Swimming parties, a skating party, the December Formal, and the annual banquet. Miss Beverly Fitzpatrick, girls' physical education instructor, served as adviser of the club.

COMMERCIAL CLUB

The sale of Christmas candy and fudge were the fund-raising projects of the Commercial Club during this year. The club, an organization for all commercial students, celebrated its thirty-sixth anniversary in 1962. It was the first extra curricular activity in Glasport High School. Mrs. Josephine Truxell has been sponsor since its inception.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

There are so many people we wish to thank for helping us publish our yearbook. We appreciate the cooperation of the faculty and administration. Without the financial assistance of the subscribers, advertisers, and patrons the publication would have been impossible. We especially wish to thank Mr. Sam Buchman of Buchman-Birch Studios and Mr. Peter Neft of the American Yearbook Company. Without the understanding assistance of these gentlemen our task would have been much greater. Again, many, many thanks to all who made the 1962 Glahisean a reality
